At the Liberty.
Elaine Hammerstein, Edith Storey, Bessie Barriscale and Billie West are the big attractions at the Liberty theatre, Davenport, for the coming week. Miss Hammerstein is to be seen in "Her Man," a powerful portrayal of an exceptionally strong part. Her support and story lend themselves to the most interesting kind of work. The play is certain to please. There will also be a comedy and a travelogue.
Edith Storey in "As the Sun Went Down," will be the attraction at the Liberty on Tuesday and Wednesday, and in addition there will be a comedy and travelogue. These extra features combined with the principal picture ought to make a delightful evening or afternoon program for patrons of the theatre.
Bessie Barriscale, long a big favorite in Davenport, will be at the Liberty on Thursday and Friday in "Tricks of Fate." This is in itself one of the finest motion picture successes ever given to the art of a great player such as Miss Barriscale. She has done wonders with the part and has made of the play a thing of great art.
There will be a Pathé News feature and a Billie West comedy on Friday. Both of these features are exclusive at the Liberty and are well worth seeing.

At the Columbia.
There are several of the ordinary features in the new vaudeville bill starting a four-day engagement at the Columbia theatre, Davenport, tomorrow afternoon. With one exception the bill runs entirely to comedy and the combination of acts should prove ideal entertainment.
"The Sand Man's Hour," an all-girl novelty that is not alone spectacular but also most original, is one of the headliners. Superbly mounted and constructed along unexceptional lines, the act is one that is certain to meet with much favor.
In Marie Stoddard the Columbia presents a comedienne of original mannerisms and type. Miss Stoddard calls her act "Caricatures of conventional lines," the act is one that opportunity to dispense a great deal of good natured fun.
A surprise comedy playlet based upon the activities of a fortune-telling palmetist is "Pretty Sam," played by Cato S. Keith and company. Fascinatingly amusing and with many new twists in the matter of plot and treatment the act has been a laughing success everywhere.
Going the average ventriloquist comedian out better in all departments of his art, Howard Martelli, assisted by Pearl Fowler at the piano, introduces a fun novelty of real quality.
Mowatt and Mullen, "The Sun-bright Pair," in an act replete with singing, talking, dancing and juggling, are great entertainers. Latest movies complete the bill.

At the American.
What is without question the big motion picture event of the current season is the appearance at the American theatre, Davenport, starting tomorrow, of Harold Bell Wright's world famous story-play, "The Shepherd of the Hills."
The engagement of this notable contribution to the cinema art, is for eleven days. It is said that for scenic grandeur, beautiful characterizations, dramatic interest and general all-around excellence this picture surpasses anything the screen has thus far produced.
Everybody knows Harold Bell Wright. His novels are the greatest selling books in America, but of them all his "The Shepherd of the Hills," is the most popular. More than twelve million people, it is said, have read this story.

The picture was made under the personal direction of Mr. Wright. In it he has caught and even improved upon the great dramatic "punches," which made the book so beloved. As a story of plain folks down in the beautiful Ozark mountains, it brings a message that cannot fail to strike a responsive chord in the heart of every one.

At the Spencer.
Patrons of the Spencer are preparing themselves for a real treat when Mabel Normand appears in "Mickey." "Great picture, phenomenal business, pleased patrons" is the report which comes from New York and Chicago, where this picture was released last week. Mabel Normand is a real comedian and she knows all the little tricks that keep the house in an uproar. In "Mickey" she has a vehicle worthy of her talent as a fun producer and patrons are assured of many good laughs.

Thursday Theda Bara comes to the Spencer for four days in the massive production of Salome, at popular prices, with special musical accompaniment from the opera Salome. The play is based on the chronicles of Josephus, the Jewish historian, who relates in detail how the daughter of Herodias so charmed King Herod with her erie dancing that he promised her anything she might ask, even to the head of John the Baptist in a charger. Why this weird maiden chose such a bloody reward for her dancing forms the plot of the spectacular and dramatic story of "Salome," the latest and the greatest production in which Theda Bara has appeared.

JESTING JINGLES

By O. Bonney Brink.
"THE MOVIES."
Most every movie fan who plays the wiggling pictures nowadays, has favorite—and my choice of actresses who play the screen—the lovin' huggin' sort, I mean, is dainty Alice Joyce. I like to see that movie star, the noted Geraldine Farrar, the vampire part assail, for like Miss Bara, she's at loss for clothes, but puts the act across and pulls down lots of kale. I sat one night and watched a scene in which a fair Egyptian queen, on sands of the Sahara, wore only filmy scarf and smile—when some gink sitting next the aisle said: "Why is Theda Bara?" I answered him, "Why, I suppose, she gave the Belgians all her clothes—a service most exacting; so please sit still and vamp your bean; I came in here to watch the screen, and not your kind of acting." About this time the guy in front of me began a lusty hunt through pockets of his coat for something he'd forgot to bring; from left to right I watched him swing—and that's what got my goat. Then at my left a portly guy with nothing else to occupy his mind, informed his friend, a buxom lassie, who had come to see how the act would end. Directly in my rear were two young folk who came to bill and coo—a soft mutt and a maid. They'd talk and giggle and they'd spoon and hold hands and wiggle, and they'd croon the air the organ played. Ere long the guy in front arose and swung his arms, adjusting clothes, and then sat down. I went, to visit with the portly guy, for he turned round and shut off my true vision of the screen. The gink who sat out next the aisle would nudge me in the ribs and smile when Geraldine would plant the king—but then I hadn't seen but half the picture on the screen—and now the show was out.

MABEL NORMAND in "MICKEY"

Mack Sennett's $300,000 Production—a clever story. The picture you will want to see twice. The picture that broke all house records every where it was shown. Chuck full of laughs and thrills. Note clipping from the Exhibitors' Herald: Some idea of the reception "Mickey" is receiving from the central west exhibitors can be gleaned from the following excerpt from a letter written to F. O. Nielsen, manager of the Mickey Film Corporation, Chicago, by Jesse G. Hodgson, Jr., of the Oak Park theatre, Oak Park, Ill.: "Mickey" was the first four-day picture that I have run in two years and we did capacity business every day regardless of weather handicaps. The first day it rained and then turned very cold the second day. Neither Charlie Chaplin nor Mary Pickford equalled my receipts on "Mickey"; in fact, it was my record for the Oak Park theatre. "Mickey," in my opinion, is the sensation of the last two years. It pleased absolutely everybody that entered the Oak Park theatre during the four days' showing." Mr. Hodgson adds that he believes it will be many months before he will see a greater success in a picture production than "Mickey."
Added Attraction—HAROLD LLOYD COMEDY and BRAT'S PICTOGRAPH. We advise come early. The sensation of the last two years. Don't miss it.
